Kisco Announces new Pricing on Quick File Utility/400

Saranac Lake, NY, July 1, 2002: Today, Kisco Information Systems (Kisco) announced special discount pricing on Quick File Utility/400, its powerful database utility product.

Kisco now offers QFU/400 in a “carry around” version, which does not restrict product licensing by CPU serial number and model number. This new version of the product enables consultants who have the need to use the tool on several client iSeries and AS/400 computers to move it from site to site without incurring additional license fees.

A good database utility is an essential tool for AS/400 and iSeries technicians and managers. QFU/400 offers a broad range of real time database access functionality and greatly improves productivity. With QFU/400, the information a technician or manager is looking for can easily be accessed with a couple keystrokes.

QFU/400 is an integrated set of file utilities that facilitate real time access to AS/400 and iSeries data files for viewing, editing, and creating application programs. Easy access to these data files can cut a significant amount of time off repetitive procedures.

QFU/400 allows technicians to view records on an individual bases or browse multiple records; perform file searches on any field contents, update individual records (even from a logical view) and scan & replace on any field with selection criteria. Additional functionality permits users to embed RPG instructions that execute during any scan & replace operation, show field headings or field descriptions, find all logical files associated and search on any key, review record layouts, copy files or certain records within a file and generate RPG programs that can be converted for use in your applications.

QFU/400 supports both physical files and logical files. From the file viewer, you can update individual records or update by group. The file viewer also provides access to record layouts and can show you all files related to a file in use.

The unlocked "carry around" version of QFU/400 is available to consultants only. Kisco requires that anyone taking advantage of this offer certify that it will be used in a consultancy. Furthermore, this version of the product is to be used on only one computer at a time. The consultants version of QFU/400 sells for $595.00. Software maintenance is free for the first year and is available at $50 per year thereafter.

Rich Loeber of Kisco “If you’re an AS/400 programmer you need a file utility of this sort. QFU/400 is very easy to use for and is robust in its functionality; it even generates simple update programs. Because, it’s a fraction of the price of competitive solutions typically priced at over $1,000, it’s very accessible.”

The non-consultant version of QFU/400 can be licensed for $395 for any AS/400 or iSeries model computer with discounts available for multiple licenses. One year of technical support and updates are included at no additional charge.

QFU/400 is available from Kisco for evaluation. For a free trial CD call (518) 897-5002, or order the software from <http://www.kisco.com/qfu400.htm>.
